Finding The Best Apartment Cleaning Service

In most cities across the USA, there are many opportunities for your business or home to become a bit dusty or cluttered. Cleaning problems are both a nuisance and a significant health hazard. Luckily, most cities are home to a multitude of cleaning services. There are corporate companies as well as private businesses that offer cleaning services in NY. Making the right choice of the cleaning company to establish a long-term relationship with can be overwhelming.

How do you go about choosing the best cleaning service a city has to offer? Many factors go into choosing the right company for your needs. The following are some of the major considerations before you stick with a particular company.

Assessing Your Long Term Goals

You need to decide whether you would like to establish a relationship with an ad hoc cleaning service NYC. Some cleaning companies are only good for one-time cleanings and no more. Others are ideal for developing long-term working relationships.

If you just want help with spring cleaning or cleaning out an old attic or an abandoned home, or would like to start fresh with one of your rooms, you will be probably better off with a small company whose focus is one-time gigs for home cleaning.

On the other hand, if you have an apartment that is hard to maintain by yourself, you may wish to find a company that can work on a set schedule. If you have a mid-sized apartment in New York or New York City, a once a month cleaning schedule should be enough for you.

Creating A Budget

Not all cleaning companies offer their services cheap. A good rule of thumb is that the more the expensive your schedule, the more you get out of it. Even though this might not be always true, it is a good idea to do some pricing research and be prepared to pay for the services you need for any home cleaning service NYC.

Come up with a budget and always understand that the final decision depends on where you stand financially. Always remember that cleaning companies also have their savings and charges. Ensure that you always read the fine print before you sign any contract.

If you are looking to enter into a long-term relationship with the cleaning services company, remember that you can get a good deal if you enter a recurring cleaning service or contract. It never hurts for you to request a particular rate especially if you use the company's services frequently.

Compiling References

Once you have come up with a shortlist of companies based on how close they are to your apartment and if they fit into your budget, it is now time to compile references.

You can use many different ways to find out about the quality of a given company. One of the most effective is to find a previous client of the business and get an honest review. Family and friends are a rich source of unbiased reviews about the enterprise. They also provide an excellent platform to view the quality of work a particular company delivers.

The Internet is another excellent source of information. You will find many good review oriented websites that compile hundreds or even thousands of personal reviews of different apartment cleaning companies from all over the U.S. to get the best maid NYC.

Read all reviews carefully and pick the ones that highlight both the pros and cons of using a particular company since they are usually more honest. It is also not a good idea to discount any negative reviews. Something negative about a particular company might be something you are looking for.

In general, it is always better to get reviews from people you know than from strangers on the Internet. People that know you know what you are looking for.

Reasons For Hiring A Professional Apartment Cleaning Service

It Makes Sense

Today, e-commerce has grown in leaps and bounds, and you can virtually order anything online and have it delivered straight to your doorstep. The professional cleaning industry has not remained behind, and it is possible to summon a cleaning company to handle your apartment management needs.

Professional cleaning services New York offer simple, safe, and sensible solutions. They empower many city dwelling residents all over the U.S. by providing reliable and professional cleaning service. Best of all you can get your apartment cleaned for as little as $100 per month with a maid service NYC.

Intensive Cleaning

If you are planning to clean your apartment, where do you start? How thorough can you get with the cleaning? Most apartment owners or renters will only focus on the problem areas for a deep clean and save the rest for 'later'. Unfortunately, for them this 'later' never comes, and you find some areas unaddressed for so long that they collect dust.

Professional cleaners address every area of the living space no matter how big. They leave all fields in immaculate condition and pay close attention to walls, floors, mirrors, tabletops, and doors. They can also clean inside common household appliances and take out the recyclables and trash for you. Professional cleaners are expensive and thorough and never leave until they finish the job.

You Are Too Busy

Obviously you are. If it were not so, then you would probably not be here. An excellent cleaning service offers customized service to all its clients. When doing the cleaning by yourself, it is hard to determine exactly how long some tasks will take. Even if you know, spending endless hours cleaning is simply an inefficient use of your time. You suffer a double loss – you dedicate much time towards an unenjoyable act and have little to show for all your efforts.

Save yourself money, time, heartbreaks, and headaches by hiring a professional cleaning service. All professional cleaning companies can handle you. You can choose from one-time, weekly, semi-monthly, and monthly cleaning services. The cleaning period takes on average 1½ to 3½ hours depending on the size of your apartment. Working with professionals helps you to plan and control your schedule better and masterfully.

The Best Equipment

Do you have all the right tools and cleaning supplies for the job? This question only applies if you plan to go it solo. Professional cleaners come armed with all necessary cleaning supplies for fundamental cleaning tasks. Most of them use environmentally friendly cleaning agents to address all corners of your apartment without any assistance.

In a case of any particular tasks, you can alert the cleaning service New York beforehand, and they will come fully equipped. If you are light on supplies or have just moved into your apartment recently, professional cleaners are a timely and perfect solution.

Reliability Consistently

The idea of allowing a complete stranger into your apartment can cause you some anxiety. Professional cleaning companies address this concern tactfully. They only hire experienced; reference & background checked, English speaking, and interviewed-in-person cleaners. Also, all cleanings booked through professional cleaning companies are bonded and insured.

How To Identify Low-Quality Cleaning Services: Red Flags

It is important for you to choose a reliable cleaning service. You might not necessarily have an excellent experience if you want the first cleaning service you come across or trust a complete stranger to come clean your apartment. You need to ensure that you choose a cleaning service that offers high-quality service, values its clients, and trains & vets its employees properly.

While assessing your goals, creating a budget, and compiling references based on reviews and ratings are great ways of identifying a good house cleaning service, you also need to be on the lookout for low-quality NYC cleaning services.

Online Presence

A reliable professional cleaning service should have an online presence. Even though not all small businesses have websites, they should at least have profiles on social media sites and local business directories. Use local business directories to get a comprehensive list of NYC home cleaning services and cleaning companies in your area along with their contact details. You can then call these companies to find out more about the services and prices.

Billing Problems

You must never use a New York City cleaning company that has made billing errors in the past. You should be able to trust your cleaner to bill you accordingly for services rendered without making any mistakes.

Lack Of Courtesy

It is always good to work with a company that has polite and courteous workers. If you encounter several reviews claiming that the employees of a particular company are rude, it is best to avoid that business.

Incomplete Background Checks & Poor Training

When reading and obtaining reviews and references, watch out for any claims that a particular company uses employees that have undergone incomplete background checks and that are poorly trained. The best cleaning services will have full background check.

These are some of the red flags to watch out for when choosing a home cleaning company or NYC maid services. A few negative reviews are nothing to worry about much so long as they do not mention any of the red flags above.

Finding a Good Home Cleaning Service

When seeking out a local home cleaning service or the best cleaning services, there are a couple of options to consider.

Ask for Recommendations

If you know of local friends, family, or even co-workers who use an NYC cleaning service, consider asking if they have any recommendations to share. This can be a great way to get a feel for some local companies that have already been vetted by somebody you know and trust! And of course, if somebody close to you has had a particularly bad experience with a local New York, NY house cleaning company, you can know to avoid them altogether.

Look for Local Businesses Online

Another option is to look for cleaning services online using a search engine. Often times, simply searching for keywords such as “house cleaning near me” or “maid service near me” can yield some local results based on your computer or other device’s location. Searching through a platform like Google Maps can also be a great way to look for cleaning services specifically near you, specifically the best cleaning services in NYC.

How Can You Get The Most Out Of An Apartment Cleaning Service?

Paying to get your apartment cleaned by professionals is worth it. However, if you are not careful, you can end up overspending on these services. Paying for some professional cleaning services can be expensive. It is the reason you need to ensure that you get the most out of the services you are paying so dearly for. This is particularly true if you choose to spend more and expect to receive better quality home cleaning service or have adopted a more comprehensive cleaning package such as a deep cleaning. The following are some things you can do to ensure that cleaners do a good job in your apartment and you receive a quality cleaning.

Communication

Communicate clearly to the cleaning company about your expectations. If you have any preferences, let the business know. Even though the company might have limits on what it can do, never hesitate to ask for additional services if needed or communicate how you would like your apartment cleaned. A cleaning service that values its clients should accommodate your interests.

Inquire About Quality Checks

A professional cleaning service should require its employees to conduct quick quality checks before leaving an apartment. The procedure needs to include checking different areas cleaned to ensure that no spot was missed. If the cleaning service you plan to use has no quality checks in place, then consider using a different service or inquire about how the company ensures that cleaners do a good job.

Inspecting Your Home From Time To Time

Take your time and check your home from time to time. If you discover that it is not as clean as it needs to be, contact the cleaning service. Never hesitate to give the company feedback or request that the cleaners do things slightly differently. Conversely, if you are satisfied with the quality of service, you should make it known to the cleaning service.

Inquiring About Additional Services

Most cleaning companies do much more than just scrubbing, mopping, and vacuuming. Some cleaning services also do carpet restoration and shampooing, waxing of hardwood floors, restoration services after a home has suffered damage, backyard cleaning, and some even restore and fix furniture. If you need help maintaining your apartment, then it is a good idea to consider using these additional services. If you already subscribe to the flat cleaning service, the cleaning company might offer you a discount.

Evaluating The Cleaning Plan You Have chosen

Your needs might change, or you may decide that you require an additional house cleaning service since you are not entirely satisfied with the current package. An excellent cleaning service should be flexible enough to make you switch to a different plan or customize your existing one.

When Should (Or Shouldn't) You Tip a Maid?

Many larger cleaning companies in New York City will advertise that tips are not required; this is usually the case when the owner of the cleaning company has built gratuity into the workers' wages. This means that rather than receiving a relatively low hourly rate and relying on tips to make a decent wage, the company has elected to pay their cleaners a more livable hourly wage.

In a situation where your cleaning company explicitly advertises that tipping is not expected, you shouldn't feel obligated to leave a gratuity. Of course, if you received exceptional service from your NYC maids, it never hurts to throw a tip their way. Doing so can boost morale and ensure they continue going above and beyond for you.

How Often Should You Tip a Maid?

Another common question people have about tipping their NYC maid service is how often they should be leaving a tip. This, like most matters related to tipping, will depend on a few things. For starters, how often does your maid come to clean your home? If you have a maid coming by once a week, then it might make more sense to leave a larger tip once a month than it would to leave a small tip each week.

If you have less regular cleaning done, you may want to tip each time—especially if you're booking through a larger New York City, New York home cleaning services where you may not receive the same maid for each appointment. If you know you may not receive the same maid for your next cleaning, you'll probably want to play it safe and tip after each cleaning appointment. This will ensure that your maid doesn't miss out on a tip.

Conclusion

Using an apartment cleaning service can be the best way to keep your apartment clean without the need for putting your time or energy into cleaning each week. The right apartment cleaning NYC service can do much more than clean your home – it can transform your home into a more welcoming space, maintain your apartment with a thorough cleaning, improve the quality of air that you breathe, and make it easier for you to find some free time to engage in other important activities. Take your time and research different New York, NY house cleaning companies and choose the one that meets your needs best.
